1. Purpose and Applicability

Intent

This policy defines the framework under which employees may work from home (WFH) or remote locations, balancing flexibility with productivity and collaboration.

WFH is offered as a benefit and an enabler, not a right; it remains subject to the operational needs of the business and the discretion of the Reporting Manager.

Coverage

The policy applies to all Meridian Technologies employees in India. Region-specific addenda may apply for employees in other geographies, in alignment with local labour regulations.

2. Eligibility

Confirmed Employees

All confirmed employees of Meridian Technologies are eligible to apply for WFH. Employees on probation are NOT eligible for the standard WFH benefit; exceptions may be granted only with HR Head approval for genuine reasons such as medical advisories.

Where probation is extended, eligibility for WFH continues to be deferred until confirmation.

Role Exclusions

Roles which require physical presence (such as front office, lab operations, and on-site customer support) are excluded from WFH except on a case-by-case basis.

Eligibility for excluded roles may be reconsidered if the role evolves to permit remote performance without operational impact.

3. Maximum WFH Days

Routine WFH

Confirmed employees may avail a maximum of 2 WFH days per week. The remaining 3 days must be from the office unless an approved exception is in place.

WFH days are typically aligned within the team to ensure adequate in-person collaboration on agreed days.

Extended WFH

Special WFH (extended) of up to 5 working days in a row may be requested for specific reasons (relocation, health, family emergency) and requires Business Unit Head approval.

Extended WFH beyond 5 working days is exceptional and may require an explicit relocation or remote work arrangement to be formalised.

4. Approval Workflow

Routine Approvals

Routine weekly WFH (within the 2 days entitlement) requires approval from the Reporting Manager via the HRMS leave/attendance module.

Routine requests should be raised at least 1 working day in advance to enable team planning.

Extended Approvals

Special or extended WFH requires approval from the Reporting Manager AND the Business Unit Head.

Approvers are expected to balance the legitimate personal need of the employee against any business impact and propose alternatives where possible.

5. Equipment and Connectivity

Devices

Employees on WFH must use the company-issued laptop. Personal devices are not permitted for company work.

Peripherals (monitor, keyboard) are not generally provided for WFH but may be borrowed from office inventory subject to availability and asset tracking.

Connectivity

A reliable broadband connection of at least 25 Mbps download is recommended. The company does not provide a dedicated broadband reimbursement for general WFH; eligible roles may claim under the Communication Allowance scheme.

Persistent connectivity issues that impact deliverables should be raised with the Reporting Manager; in such cases the employee may be required to return to office until resolved.

6. Working Hours and Availability

Core Hours

Core working hours during WFH are 10:00 to 16:00, during which employees must be available on Teams or the equivalent collaboration platform.

Status indicators must be kept up to date so that colleagues can identify availability for ad-hoc collaboration.

Standard Business Hours

Employees must be reachable on the registered mobile number and email throughout standard business hours of 09:00 to 18:00.

Any planned unavailability within business hours should be flagged on the team calendar.

7. Attendance and Productivity

Attendance Marking

Attendance is marked via the HRMS self-service module on WFH days. Failure to mark attendance is treated as absence.

Three consecutive instances of missed attendance marking will trigger an alert to the Reporting Manager.

Productivity Review

Periodic productivity reviews may be conducted by the Reporting Manager. Sustained underperformance during WFH may lead to suspension of the WFH benefit.

Suspension of WFH is treated as a performance enablement step, not a disciplinary action, and is reviewed quarterly.

8. Information Security

Policy Compliance

Employees on WFH must comply with the IT Acceptable Use Policy and Data Security Policy at all times. The workplace must be reasonably private to prevent shoulder-surfing of confidential information.

Family members and visitors should not have visual or auditory access to the employee's work screens and calls.

Restricted Data

Confidential calls must not be taken in shared public spaces. Restricted data work is not permitted from any location other than office premises.

Where role exposure to Restricted data is incidental, the employee must coordinate with the manager to schedule such work on office days.

9. Wellbeing and Communication

Work-Life Boundaries

Employees and managers are encouraged to take regular breaks and maintain a clear separation between work and personal time, even when working from home.

Late-night or weekend communications should be the exception, not the norm; managers must role model healthy disconnection.

Team Connection

Managers are expected to hold at least one team in-person day per fortnight to maintain team cohesion.

Informal connect activities such as team lunches and offsites are encouraged to offset the dilution of relationships that can result from extended remote work.

10. Policy Review

Review Cycle

This policy will be reviewed annually by the HR Head and Business Unit Heads in consultation with the Leadership Team to ensure it remains aligned with business needs.

Employees are welcome to provide feedback through the HR feedback portal, which is reviewed as input to the annual policy refresh.
